Cornerstone Ceremony Held

Four hundred persons attended the cornerstone laying ceremony Sunday afternoon at the site of the new First Christian Church on E. 6th St.

In the above photo, Clifford Zimmerman, chairman of the church board, looks on as the Rev. Harold Deitch, pastor, applies mortar to the stone.

The Rev. Deitch offered the call to worship, after which the hymn, "The Church's One Foundation," was sung. The invocation was given by Kenneth Harsh, with C. L. Zimmerman presenting the scriptures.

Memorials were placed in the cornerstone by the various organizations of the church.

The anthem, "Bless This House," was sung by the adult choir. The litany of dedication was conducted by the pastor, followed by a prayer of dedication. Albert R. Hanna said the benediction.

The $310,000 edifice is expected to be completed by early next spring.

Federal Action Against Faubus May Be Coming

Justice Department Readies Marshals In Arkansas

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Arkansas confronted the federal government with a direct and concrete challenge today—four Little Rock high schools with classrooms empty because the U. S. Supreme Court ruled that one of them cannot remain segregated.

The U. S. Justice Department demonstrated by its often mysterious movements that it will not long tolerate Gov. Orval E. Faubus' act.

But the agency's spokesmen refused to reveal how the department plans to employ the small army of U. S. marshals it has gathered here. Nor would they disclose tactics of the beefed-up federal attorney staff.

Last Friday the U. S. Supreme Court ruled that Central High could not delay integration as requested by the school board.

Within hours, Faubus ordered Central and three other city high schools closed even before they had opened for the fall term. They include Horace Mann, an all-Negro institution.

He said he acted because Central faced forcible integration and he feared violence and disorder would follow.

White demonstrators rioted last fall in attempting to remove nine Negro students from previously all-white Central. Federal troops drove the demonstrators away and enforced integration orders. The shutdown of schools here marked the first time authorities had invoked school closing laws to prevent mixing of white and Negro pupils in classrooms.

Federal Dist. Judge John E. Miller of Fort Smith, Ark., delayed pressing court business to fly here. He said he would be at the courthouse today even though "I have no reason at present to anticipate any legal action in this matter coming before me."

The Justice Department held 150 deputy U. S. marshals in readiness and procured signs warning persons not to interfere with the officers.

City police authorities canceled all department vacations and days off and drilled their forces in use of gas guns, gas grenades and submachine guns.

If the governor expected any immediate startling developments involving him it was not apparent. The mansion was guarded by a routine number of state troopers.

The primary emphasis, however, was believed to lie on the Nationalist-held offshore islands in Formosa Strait and U. S. demands for a renunciation of force by Red China.

Appeals for resuming the Geneva talks were made by both the United States and the Peiping government, shortly after the Communists began bombarding Quemoy right off the mainland on Aug. 23.

U. S. sources here maintain the parleys are only a resumption of the Geneva talks. President Eisenhower has been pressing for negotiations aimed primarily at working out a cease-fire.

Secretary of State Dulles said in Washington Sunday night that the Communists agreed to resume the talks in the interests of peace and "I hope peace will come out of them."

But the talks could run into trouble if the Communists insist on broadening them to include possible U. S. recognition of Red China and membership in the United Nations, two sources of friction that may lie behind the Formosa Strait crisis.

Police Investigate Two Traffic Mishaps

Two accidents on city streets Saturday and Sunday were investigated by police.

A truck-trailer driven by Ernest Higham, 35, of New Lebanon, and a car operated by Dorothy H. Dutko, 35, of 957 S. Lundy Ave. collided at the intersection of Ellsworth Ave. and State St. Sunday at 12:01 p.m.

Autos operated by Mildred W. Myers, 55, of 1084 Cleveland St. and Emerson R. Braun, 27, of Warren, collided on S. Union Ave. Saturday at 6:45 p.m.

Algerians Miss Soustelle In Paris Shooting

PARIS (AP)—Algerian assassins tried to kill French information Minister Jacques Soustelle in the heart of Paris today, but missed him.

Soustelle, a former governor general of Algeria, was cut above the eyes and under his chin by glass shattered in bursts of gunfire at his car. One bullet whizzed through his coat as he dived to the floor.

In the blistering gunfight that followed, one Algerian was killed and another wounded. Stray bullets killed a French subway worker and wounded three more. The shooting occurred near the Arc de Triomphe as American tourists and French passers-by raced for cover.

Next to Premier de Gaulle himself, Soustelle is the biggest government figure the Algerian nationalists could attack in France to underscore their determination to win independence for that vast North African territory. Soustelle sits at De Gaulle's right hand in the French Cabinet and is his chief propagandist.

Soustelle, at a news conference after the shooting, blamed the attack on the Algerian National Liberation Front (FLN). Police at first said the attackers were members of the Nationalist Algerian Movement (MNA), which rivals the FLN for leadership in the Algerian rebellion.

The attack came as Soustelle, with his usual police escort, pulled to a stop near his office. Sudden bursts of gunfire shattered the rear window of the car and peppered its sides.

Chief Recovering From July Heart Seizure

Chief of Police George (Sim) Earley, who suffered a heart attack July 2 while helping a posse search for two escapees, is making good progress toward recovery at his home at 880 N. Ellsworth Ave.

The chief expects to return to work in the near future.

16 Persons Die Over Weekend In Ohio Mishaps; 10 on Roads

By The Associated Press
Three plane crashes—each claiming two lives—accounted for almost half of the weekend's accidental deaths in Ohio.

In all, 16 persons were killed in the state from 6 p. m. Friday to midnight Sunday, according to an Associated Press tabulation. As usual, the largest toll was taken on the highways where automobile accidents claimed 10 victims.

But headline attention was focused on the airways instead of the highways.

The first plane crash occurred probably around 4:30 p. m. Friday in eastern Hamilton County. That's when persons nearby heard a loud noise but thought it was a dump truck unloading. However, since that crash happened before the start of The AP's tabulation, the two men who died were not counted in the weekend toll.

The crash on a hilltop near New-Town killed Arthur M. (Tex) Hart, 44, of Mariemont, a Cincinnati suburb, and Lloyd Rand, 50, an amputee patient at a Cincinnati hospital. They were on a pleasure flight from Lunken Airport in Cincinnati when the pilot reported from over Hillsboro that he was having engine trouble.

Roughly 24 hours after that crash, another plane went down, again killing the two occupants. The scene was southeast of Grove City, near Columbus. Witnesses said the single-engine craft stalled as it made a bank, then smashed onto an uncompleted section of the North-South Freeway.

Civil Aeronautics Administration investigators said the victims, Columbus area men and both the fathers of three children, had been student pilots at one time but that their student pilot licenses expired two years ago.

Again a full day passed, then the third airplane crash occurred. An upstate New York farmer and his wife perished when their single engine, four-seat craft plowed into a pasture Sunday night after hitting high tension wires.

NEW BUICK FOR 1959. The entire line of Buick's 17 models, which will be put on public display Friday, show a lavish use of glass and an accentuated styling that ends with "delta wing" rear fenders. A hardtop model is shown above, featuring a curved rear window that encompasses the passenger compartment. Compound windshields that eliminate wind noise are featured on all 1959 Buick models. Aluminum front brake drums are standard on all Buicks in 1959. LeSabre is mounted on a 123-inch wheelbase and powered by a 364-cubic inch engine with 10.5-to-1 compression ratio.

Twin headlights are set diagonally in the front grille. The hardtop styling actually is less than 55 inches high. The Buick body style names for 1959 are LeSabre, Invicta and Electra. All of the cars are equipped with rear air springs.

The couple was en route back from Columbia, Mo., where they had flown one of their four sons to his college, and were preparing to land on a farm to visit friends when the plane crashed and burned.

The fatalities:
Friday night:
Mrs. William Nash, 41, Garfield Heights (near Cleveland), struck by a pickup truck that went out of control as she was mailing a letter.

Herman Pittman, 32, Columbus struck by a car as he crossed a Columbus street.

Judith Miller, 15, Columbus, when her boy friend's car missed a curve on Ohio 161 east of Ohio 3 in Franklin County.

Saturday:
William P. Gatewood, 19, Columbus, of injuries suffered Friday night in the collision of his motorcycle with a car at a Columbus intersection.

Daniel Joseph Olsheski, 2, Green Camp (Marion County), of injuries received Friday night when he fell from his father's car and under the wheels of another car on Ohio 739 two miles west of Marion.

James R. Coen, 32, Columbus, and Andrew Schwindt Jr., 27, Grove City, when the light plane in which they were flying crashed south of Grove City on the graded portion of the new North-South Freeway.

Donald S. Paulus, 20, Rt. 1, Houston (Shelby County), in a collision of his car and a train at a crossing in Versailles (Darke County).

Charles Brady, 17, Coalton (Jackson County), in a Vinton County rock slide as he collected stone for a road-building project.

Sunday:
Harland Turvey, 17, Ironton, hit by a freight train at an Ironton crossing as he and two companions sprinted across the tracks.

Albert Hite, 45, Rt. 1, Arcanum (Darke County), in a head-on auto collision on Ohio 49 a mile north of Arcanum.

Mrs. Herbert L. Gronfine, 52, Cleveland, struck on a Cleveland street by a hit-skip driver.

Richard L. Acord, 37, Chillicothe, when his motorcycle ran off a Ross County road about a mile east of Chillicothe and hit a rural mailbox.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald F. Holmes, both 47, Lawersville, N. Y., when their plane clipped power lines while attempting to land at a farm near Lebanon, slammed into the ground and caught fire.

Steel Orders Set for Rise

Increase Is Hinged
On Auto Negotiation

CLEVELAND (AP) — Steel orders are heavier than they've been at any previous time this year and production will rise for another six weeks if there is no strike in the automobile industry, Steel magazine reported today.

Steel mills operated at 65 per cent of rated capacity last week. This was two points higher than the previous week and a new peak for the year. Production totaled 1,755,000 tons. The year's previous best weekly output was 1,751,000 tons during the week ended June 22.

The magazine said the heavier orders resulted from continued strong demand for construction steel, more buying by the automobile manufacturers, larger orders from appliance makers who are preparing for the Christmas market and increased buying by miscellaneous consumers for inventory replacement.

Because of the upturn in production, steelmakers again are focusing attention on their long-term expansion requirements.

Steel said that the steel industry would need close to 250 million tons of capacity in 1975 if the manufacturers are to keep up with a "projected growth in population to about 221.5 million people and an anticipated rise in per capita capacity." That is 109,257,000 tons more than the industry had at the beginning of this year.

"Even if per capita capacity does not rise," the publication said, "the industry will need about 185 million tons of capacity in 1975."

Steel's price composite on steel-making scrap was unchanged at $42.67 a gross ton last week. Dealers think the scrap market will spurt if there is no automobile strike since high-level steel production would be assured through the fourth quarter, the magazine said.

The publication's price composite on finished steel also was unchanged at $149.28 a net ton.

Storage Space for Fold-up Bed Can Serve as Room Divider

BY VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Treat your fold-up guest bed to a new home—a storage place right in the room where it may be used. Then, when your guest gets sleepy you won't be tempted to flip coins to see whether you get the bed down from the attic or he sleeps with the dalmations on the floor.

This is supposed to be a do-it yourself project, so you should have an inkling of how to use a level, saw and sand paper. Dimensions vary with the size of the bed, but in any case the unit can serve as a room divider or decorative addition.

THE UNIT IS A plywood box with no bottom, with doors at one end and a desk shelf along the side. You'll need two panels of three-quarter inch fir plywood for the sides and doors, a few feet of lumber for the door stop and desk brackets, and hardware for the doors and desk.

The body, built much like a box, must be put together by gluing and nailing all joints. Fasten the end panel between the side pieces, then insert and fasten the top. Position the structure against the wall of the room, cutting out a section of baseboard to fit the unit tightly against the wall. Fasten the whole assembly to the wall with screws driven through the back panel into the wall.

PUT A METAL fitting—brass, aluminum or steel—to anchor the front of the storage cabinet at the base. Leave space on either side of the length of metal so your bed wheels may slide easily through the spaces. Screw the anchor to the floor.

The desk which may be used on either side of the unit is not the full length of the cabinet, but is cut shorter so the cabinet doors may swing back. You'll need brackets for the desk. Cut them from 1 x 4 lumber. Fit doors allowing for 1/4 inch or more bottom clearance, hanging them with cabinet hinges—either pin-type or mortised butt hinges. Supply pulls and catches.

FILL NAIL HOLES and the edge grain with filler, sand the unit until smooth, and then finish it to match the room decor. Sand each coat of paint before applying the next to insure a slick finish.

Some of the new adhesive backed wall-papers that are easy to use may make a nice contrast to painted walls when used on this unit. A brick pattern, for instance, may give an unusual effect with trailing variegated ivy and geraniums gracing the top of the bed storage unit. The top may be used for books.

If you build this unit for a double bed it will be more on the long side, if build for a coil or link spring bed, it may need to be wider than you'd expect, so it is a good idea to measure the bed carefully before going ahead with your project.

Principle Settled; Policy Unsettled

The U.S. Supreme Court has made the only ruling it could make inside the logic of the law as it applies to the Little Rock school case.

It has upheld the decision by the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals at St. Louis that integration at Little Rock must proceed as ordered; that orderly procedure cannot be stalled by unlawful resistance.

The flaw in the order by U.S. District Judge Harry J. Lemley last June that said integration in Little Rock could be put off 30 months, as requested by the School Board, was as obvious to the Supreme Court as it had been to the Court of Appeals.

If Southern segregationists could force a stay of school integration in Little Rock with a show of violence, they could and would stall integration in every Southern school district. Therefore, integration had to be ordered to proceed in the city whose school board had brought the test case on delay, or integration could not be expected to proceed anywhere. It would bog down, legally, in an endless series of delays.

So much for the logic of the law. The principle has been settled.

The policy for upholding the principle remains unsettled. Southern politicians, with votes at stake, will capitalize on a chance to fight the federal government. Southern segregationists will be adamant. The element in the South that wants to use violence will be hard to restrain.

Extremists on the segregation side will take the attitude that it is better to have no schools at all than integrated schools. The National Association for Advancement of Colored People will be just as extreme in the opposite direction.

But the only thing that has happened is the re-establishment of the legal status quo. An attempt to suspend it in Little Rock and inferentially, in other Southern school districts, has been turned back by the Supreme Court.

Fortunately, the federal government has had the benefit of last year's experience with troops in Little Rock; it will not use soldiers again, unless marshals and injunctions prove totally inadequate.

Why shouldn't it let those states and school districts which say they would rather have no schools at all than integrated schools close and stay closed? That may very well be the question of this forthcoming school year.

Can anyone think offhand, of any way that would make parents of school-age children in segregation states more keenly aware of cutting off their noses to spite their face than closed schools?

The Scalp of Sherman Adams

The scalp of Sherman Adams may become as famous in its way as the War of Jenkins's Ear.

There is a revived demand for it, ostensibly as the result of Democratic success in the Maine election. Actually, the demand has vastly more significance than what happened at the polls in a state that used to lean toward the Republicans but now leans toward the Democrats.

The scalp of Sherman Adams has become a symbol of the fight for control of the Republican party.

If its owner had not made the mistake of accepting substantial favors from an industrial named Bernard Goldfine, the Republicans who want him to be scalped as punishment for his role in party factionalism would have found something else — or obliging Democrats would have found something for them.

The former governor of New Hampshire is Dwight Eisenhower's personal choice as No. 1 White House assistant. He landed the Republican nomination for Mr. Eisenhower in 1952.

He bestowed patronage jobs on the deserving after Mr. Eisenhower took office — and he withheld jobs from the undeserving. He decided who would go in to see the President and who would have to be satisfied with something less than the real Dwight D. He made decisions and gave advice. He ran the White House during presidential illnesses.

All things considered, Sherman Adams has had a chance to make more enemies in politics than any other man of his generation. Besides the people who dislike him personally, there are the people who dislike him for what he symbolizes in the struggle for power inside the Republican party, not to mention the Democrats who want his scalp to compensate for the scalps that Republicans cut off the Truman entourage.

Do not bet that Mr. Adams will go back to New Hampshire with his air intact. Politics is not logic but emotionalism — like scalping.

Don't Miss the Play

With long rehearsals at an end, the Community Players will give their first presentation Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings in the Junior High auditorium.

The thespians' initial production, a three-act comedy entitled "Two Blind Mice," brought favorable comment from those who caught a sneak-preview during rehearsals yesterday. Some of the actors are members of the former Salem Players Club which presented so many hits a number of years back.

The play offers you an evening of hilarious entertainment — and your ticket, purchased at the door, will benefit the YWCA.

Undisputed Champion

Alaska and the Bronx

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

The population of the state of Alaska is either 128,643, according to the census of 1950, or 159,000, according to an "estimate" in the World Almanac for 1958.

The biggest city in Alaska is Anchorage, with 30,000 people. Fairbanks, Ketchikan and Juneau have 10,000, 7,500, and 7,000 respectively. All four could get lost or stolen on a normal election day in one congressional district of the Bronx, which is not a state but a mere borough of the City is 1,518,000.

The population of the Bronx is 1,518,000. The area of Alaska is 586,400 square miles. The area of the Bronx is 54.4.

The national bird of Alaska is the Ptarmigan, but there are almost as many ptarmigans in the Bronx zoo as there are in all Alaska. Furthermore, the Bronx zoo has had six duck-billed platypuses, in pairs, named, by rewrite men of the metropolitan tabloids, William and Mary; Romeo and Juliet, and Franklin and Eleanor. Alaska never saw a duck-billed platypus.

The national bird of the Bronx is known as "The Bird," but is not one of our feathered friends at all. It is, instead, a note caused by a pursing of the lips and the explosion of breath through this constricted orifice under pressure of the tongue. It is also called the raspberry and the Bronx cheer.

ALASKA is lousy with Communists, but the Bronx is worse. The largest concentration of communists outside Soviet Russia was found in the Bronx in 1936 when the House Committee on Un-American Activities seized the party rolls. Now all the survivors are modern Republicans. Most of these communists or the parents thereof came from old world areas that are part of Soviet Russia.

Most of the Alaskan Communists were sent out from Washington, D.C., by Harold Ickes, who confessed in his two diaries that he desired a version of communism for the government of the United States. He also admitted, by abundant implication, that he was a dirty little rat. This of course was redundancy.

As secretary of the interior, Ickes was king of Alaska for 13 years. In that role he directed a constant trickle of the most loathsome vermin that the new deal afforded outside the State Department and the Treasury, which were competitive with the Interior.

The people of Alaska will deny that their new state is thus befouled, but they have been cheek-by-jowl with Ickes-Americans so long that they are brain-washed.

The name "Alaska" is a corruption of an Indian-Eskimo word whose meaning has been lost in the mysteries of antiquity. The meaning of "The Bronx" disappeared from the morgue when some bum took out the envelope to do a Sunday feature and then went on strike. Anyway, what do you care?

ALASKA PRODUCED during the Gold Rush the most spectacular school of liars and drunken bums of literature since park row of the old days, when the best reporters all got cockeyed at that saloon down near the old New York American which has been gone so long that I even forget the name.

However, those old rummies were strictly mythical. Not one case has been verified of a wonderful story written by a reeling drunk under the golden dome of the world or in any other temple of the old days. The drunkest drunken bum of the Alaskan school also known as the God-how-the-wind-blew school of literature, was Jack London. Robert W. Service was a tee-totaler, but that would make no difference. Edgar Guest wrote better and even Hemingway, sometimes, with a following wind. Most of those authors were in and out inside 18 months.

Many of the legendary American heroes of the Gold Rush were hot-stove pioneers. Tex Rickard went out on the trail twice and he sometimes told an ironic story of the deathless loyalty of comrades in the wide open spaces with only God above to judge them. Tex said he and a partner were eating their spare boots and spitting out the little nails and beginning to canvass one another's edibility with long glances when he shot a goose on the wing with a revolver. Remember what I said about liars.

THEREAFTER, Tex ran a gambling joint called the Northern and learned, with virtuous horror, the subtle tricks of legerdemain done with grease and glue on the fingertips by weighters shaking tiny grains of gold from the prospectors' leather pokes in payment for fiery draughts.

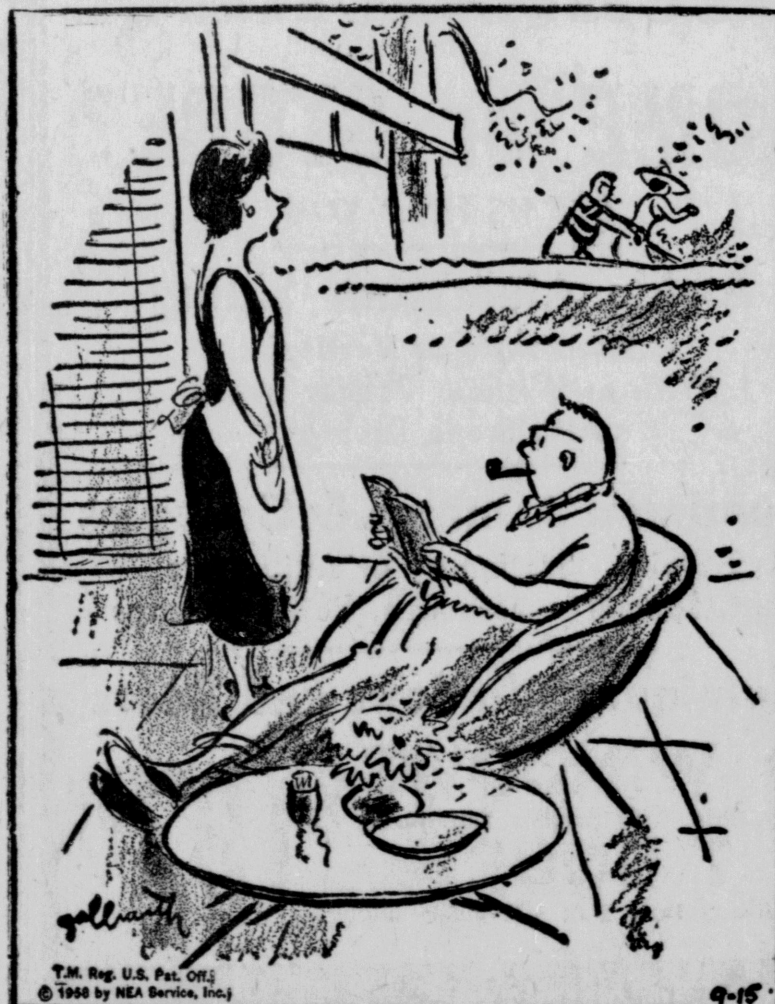

Wilson Mizner said "most of the fellows up there should have worn hair ribbons. A crooked judge, sitting for a gang of politicians, robbed a whole courtroom full of them and they cried in their beards and had to take smelling salts. Any California miner would have lynched the bum, single-handed."

"I never knew ingratitude until I elected an Alaskan pal to be chief of police. He made the first set of burglar tools in Alaska. I paid his expenses, ran his campaign and pinned the gold star on his shirt. And the first man he arrested was me."

He same thing happens right along in the Bronx.

Double Standard

By RAYMOND MOLEY

Mrs. Roosevelt Once Opposed Right-to-Work

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt has been most articulate this year in attacking the right-to-work proposals now before five states for decision by the voters. That is, of course, her privilege as an American citizen.

It was also her privilege during her service with the United Nations, to take an entirely opposite stand on the same subject when it was discussed as a right to be protected in all nations.

She might, however, explain why something which was sauce for the international goose should be something other than sauce for an American state.

During the years 1947 and 1948 the Human Rights Commission of the United Nations was in the process of formulating a so-called "Universal Declaration of Human Rights." Mrs. Roosevelt was the representative of the United States on that commission.

At the third session of the United Nations General Assembly, held in Paris in 1948, the draft of the "Universal Declaration of Human Rights" came before it for discussion.

IT WAS REFERRED to the social committee of the Assembly, and there were 85 meetings at which the declaration was combed over, word by word. Again, Mrs. Roosevelt was the United States representative present to defend and explain the document.

Finally, the document was approved by the social committee and later by the plenary session of the Assembly. There was no dissenting vote.

In a sense this declaration is a major achievement of this busy woman's life. It happens that it has never had official recognition by the United States and is largely forgotten. But it should stand as a monument to the ideas and notions of the former First Lady.

Among many, many things, the declaration says: "Article 23. Section 3. Everyone is free to form or join trade unions for the protection of his own interests."

During the debate there was discussion of four words which had been enclosed in parentheses: "Of his own choice." After discussion these were omitted.

The omission was agreed to because Mrs. Roosevelt assured these present that the statement as it stood meant freedom of choice.

A MR. FONTANA of Uruguay stated that the right to join trade unions should be accompanied by words to the effect that the worker should have also the right not to join. In reply, Mrs. Roosevelt said:

"It was understood that the words 'everyone is free to form or join trade unions' left individuals free not to join."

In further discussion she said:

"As regards article 23 which concerned the right to work, in the opinion of her delegation that right was meaningless unless it was coupled with the mention of just and favorable working conditions, which would guarantee the worker and his family a decent standard of living. The right to work had to be accompanied by the freedom of choice with respect to work."

These quotations are from official United Nations records.

Apparently Mrs. Roosevelt has quite different standards for Indonesians and Arabs than she has for her fellow countrymen. Or is she just another rather transparent political figure playing by ear? Or is her memory faulty? Has she ever thought through the problem she is trying to solve? (By Associated Newspapers)

Purely Personal

By TRUMAN TWILL

One of the things no one worries about any more is tranquilizers. Did everybody finally become so tranquil there was nothing to worry about?

It is hard to understand why men and women, but women particularly, who have unpleasant voices do not pay as much attention to improving them as they pay to their clothing and hair, for example.

If you do not understand the resemblance between Cato and Elder and John Foster Dulles, it will be a rewarding experience to read up on the old Roman's off-stated feelings about Carthage.

At the end of another baseball season, there is a significant consensus on one point about the national game: Contrary to what some of the big-league owners are thinking and saying, the nation does not owe baseball a profit.

Until something better comes along, I think the ultimate in inconsistency is reached when people objecting to suspension of rail service go to the public hearings on the matter in automobiles.

Because it is permissible to publish a plug for something as expensive as Rolls-Royce and Bentley automobiles, I loved the latest ad, which pointed out that these fabulous cars do very well on regular gasoline, thank you.

Perhaps I wasn't the only citizen of the United States who quit feeling indignant over U.S.S.R. paliticos given minor jobs in distant places when Congress reminded me in its recent session that we turned some of our former presidents out to pasture — with no grass.

This may be tough to figure out but working on it: Is it progress or absurdity to keep shortening the work week when all it does is force more workers to hold two or more jobs, so that work-week shorteners now are in favor of rules limiting workers to membership in one union and therefore one job under union-shop regulations?

It is truly remarkable how many sound, legal reasons people who cherish prejudice against the colored race can dig up for not doing what they fully understand is a moral obligation.

One of the comforting things about the Ohio Turnpike—that deep ditch separating the two ribbons of concrete—has been taken away. A driver finally succeeded in leaping it and causing the one accident that was supposed to be impossible—a head-on collision.

On the sound assumption that the experts who say H-bomb tests have no effect on the weather are as ignorant as the experts who say the opposite, I am stringing along with those who say the opposite.

I can remember when I would have gone bareheaded rather than wear a straw hat after Labor Day.

On nice thing about the end of summer is that it's easier in some instances to switch off winter "replacements" on TV and thereby have more time for reading and sleeping.

My favorite topic of conversation is the evolution of the city in this century—and the time lag in public comprehension of what has happened to the old-fashioned city walled in by municipal boundary lines.

Criticizes Truck Drivers

When I read of the school bus-truck-trailer tragedy, followed by news of another accident involving semitrucks, I was reminded of a close brush with death that I and my family had on a recent trip on the Ohio turnpike. A speeding trucktrailer forced our car completely off the highway for no reason except the thrill the driver apparently got.

Through numerous magazine articles we have been made aware of the exemplary manner in which truck drivers conduct themselves. Perhaps this is true, but I haven't noticed it.

Fisher, Reynolds Divorce Readied

Attorneys Meet To Work Out Case

HOLLYWOOD — Attorneys for Eddie Fisher and Debbie Reynolds are due to get together this week to work out a divorce that will end the 1955 marriage of the film couple.

And with the lawyers entering the picture, the barrage of statements that marked the breakup of the marriage last week simmered to silence.

Fisher withdrew to an undisclosed hideaway to concentrate on his television show, which starts Sept. 30. Debbie spent a quiet day with her two children. Elizabeth Taylor, whose dates with Fisher apparently touched off the marital explosion, stayed out of sight at her agent's home.

A friend of Fisher's said the 30-year-old singer will not contest Debbie's divorce action so that a messy trial can be avoided.

The quieting of the situation left one mystery still unsolved. The Chester, Pa. Times published a column Friday under Fisher's by-line in which he said he still loved Debbie and hoped their marriage could be saved. But Fisher denied writing it.

The newspaper's managing editor, Bud Magnin, said the article was accompanied by a note from Fisher, signed, "Eddie." Fisher has been writing a column for the paper since July.

But the singer, through a publicity man, said he didn't write it and that the article did not express his feelings.

Rebekah Unit At Leetonia Meets Tuesday

LEETONIA — D. Wallace Rebekah Lodge will hold its annual inspection Tuesday evening.

THREE LINKS SOCIAL Club of the Odd Fellows Lodge will meet Wednesday at 6 p.m. for a coverdish supper at the IOOF Hall.

THE PAST NOBE Grands Association of Home Rebekah Lodge met recently at the home of Mrs. Edward Alexander of Woodland Ave.

Following the business meeting, when a coverdish dinner was planned for Oct. 8 at 6 p.m. in the IOOF Hall, games were enjoyed.

Lunch was served by Mrs. Alexander, Mrs. William Arnold and Mrs. George Williamson.

MRS. WILLIAM KIRCHER of Dayton, former Salem resident, was honored recently at a luncheon at the home of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Ana Auday of Franklin St. Guests included Mrs. Clarence Esterly of Salem, Mr. and Mrs. J. Cardinal of Sebring and Mrs. Walter Carlson and daughter, Becky, of Columbiana.

A CLASS IN DRIED flower arranging will begin Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. at the "Aranger's Shop" 1580 N. Ellsworth Ave. This will be the first in a series of three lessons to be sponsored by the Salem Garden Center. Mrs. George F. Jones of the Salem Garden Club will be the instructor.

Anyone wishing to make reservations may call Mrs. A. Powell Schmuach. Those attending are asked to bring containers and pin holders. Dried flowers may be brought by those attending or purchased at the shop.

CORONET CLUB members were entertained Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Roy McMillan of S. Union Ave. Mrs. John Vincent was welcomed as a guest.

Prizes in the "500" games were shared by Mrs. Kenneth Hoopes, Mrs. Russell Doyle and Mrs. Glen Ciose.

The Sept. 26 meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Emily Paxson of Arch St.

SALEM CAMERA CLUB members met Wednesday evening at the Memorial Building and approved a program submitted for the remaining 1958 meetings.

The 25 members present enjoyed slides of the recent balloon ascension at the Columbiana County Fair and of the last year's Maid of the Mist Festival at Niagara Falls.

"Sale, Swap or Trade Night" will be observed at the Sept. 24 meeting in the Memorial Building. Slides of the Holland Tulip Festival will be shown, and a question and answer period will follow.

A SHOWER OF GIFTS was presented to Mr. and Mrs. David Bush, who were married Sunday afternoon, when members of the Baptist Youth Fellowship were entertained recently by Mr. Bush's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Bush of E. rd St.

Mr. Bush and his bride, the former Patty Burger, are members of the Fellowship.

Games and prizes were won by Sherill Hutson, Howard Sommers, Mrs. William Sommers and Kurt Ludwig.

The refreshment table, laid with a pink and green cloth, was decorated with a pink and green Japanese parasol, double white wedding bells and a miniature bride and bridegroom figurine. Tapers in pink and green holders lighted each end of the table. A buffet lunch was served. "Patty and Dave, Sept. 14" was inscribed on the heart which centered the large cake that was also decorated in pink and green.

GUEST DAY will be observed Oct. 24 by Beta Psi and Xi Gamma Chapters of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority at a joint meeting in the Ruth Smucker House.

Plans for the event were discussed at Thursday night's meeting of Beta Psi Chapter in the Ruth Smucker House. Mrs. Kenneth Lodge, appointed chairman to represent Beta Psi Chapter, will work with the Xi Gamma chairman in arranging the party.

A candlelight ceremony, "Dedication of a Year of Fulfillment," was conducted by Mrs. Bruce Fredericks, Mrs. Thomas Williams and Mrs. John Cabas.

Mrs. Walter Watkins, program chairman, presented Mrs. J.C. Pottorf, honorary member of the Xi Gamma Chapter, who spoke on the topic, "Friendship."

Miss Janice Bethel was awarded the hostess prize.

Deep salmon colored geraniums were arranged in a centerpiece on the table laid with a light brown linen cloth. Napkins in an array of fall colors added to the motif. Mrs. Williams and Mrs. Norman Gilsdorf, hostesses, served the refreshments.

The Sept. 25 session will be in the Smucker House with Mrs. Pat Sutherin and Mrs. Wallace Luce serving as hostesses.

Mrs. Glen Wolford

Mercer-Wolford Nuptials Held In Canfield Old North Church

Floral arrangements, palms and white candles adorned the altar of the Old North Church in Canfield for the Sunday afternoon wedding of Miss Marilyn Mercer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mercer of Canfield and Glen Wolford, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Wolford of RD 4, Salem.

The couple exchanged their vows before the Rev. Carl Brand.

Raymond Bush of RD 3, Canfield was soloist, and sang "Because," "Walk Hand in Hand," and "The Lord's Prayer," accompanied by the organist, Mrs. Ann Watkins of Austintown.

The bride made her gown of white tulle with over the shoulder train. White pearl buttons decorated the back of the bodice and the long sleeves. Her jewelry was a single strand of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom.

A satin and pearl headband held the bride's net and lace veil. She carried a showered bouquet of yellow roses and blue carnations.

With her gown of white tulle over blue satin, the maid of honor, Miss Barbara Thomas of Salem, carried a bouquet of blue carnations.

The bridesmaids, Miss Margaret Wolford of RD 4, Salem, sister of the bridegroom and Miss Sandra Durr of Canfield, and Miss Virginia Wolford of RD 4, Salem, sister of the bridegroom, were attired in frocks of white over yellow in the same motif as the bride's. Yellow carnations formed their bouquets.

Misses Constance Bush and Rose Ann Casza of Canfield were the flower girls. Their dresses were white over blue, and carried miniature bouquets of blue flowers.

Richard Wolford of RD 4, Salem was best man for his brother Robert McNamee of Lisbon and Ralph Seaman of Canfield were ushers, with Robert Bush of Canfield as junior usher. Ring bearer was Daniel Wolford, of RD 4, Salem, brother of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Mercer and Mrs. Wolford were attired in pink and royal blue dresses, respectively. Both wore corsages of pink roses.

Aunts of the couple served at the reception in the church social rooms. Miss Doris McNamee of Lisbon registered the guests.

The bride is employed by the Farmer's National Bank of Canfield. Her husband is employed by Mercer's Welding Inc. of Calla.

After a honeymoon through the southern and eastern states, the couple will reside at the home of the bride's parents.

Music Study Club Holds Program

New officers presided at the first meeting of the Junior Music Study Club recently at the home of Margie Vaughan of N. Union Ave.

The offices are: President, Paul Schmid; vice president, Karen Klein; secretary, Mary Jane Matthews; and treasurer, Lorraine Pardee.

Linda Keck introduced the theme for this year's programs, "Enjoying Music." The club plans to form more ensembles and sight reading groups and present more special programs and sketches during the coming year.

Special guests at the meeting were Salem High School June graduates; Marilyn Cameron, a sophomore at Baldwin Wallace College; Gerry Vanhovel and Dorothy Pozniko.

Miss Vanhovel and Miss Pozniko played the duet's "Gtnerist," "Lequond; Waltz (Faust), Gounod; and "Peter and the Wolf," (Triumphal March), Prokofieff.

Miss Pozniko, who received her masters degree from Eastman School of Music, talked to the group about selecting a college for training in music.

The meeting was concluded with a wienner roast.

Pinckney Hall will be host to the club at his home Sept. 22 at 7:30 p.m.

Sketches of composers will be given by Ed Enemark, Linda Keck,

Tom Lease, Charlene Vincent and Jim McNeal.

Solos will be presented by Pat Roof, Ed Enemark, Bob Zeppernick and Carol Hasson.

Mrs. Garrett Leroy Hendrix

Miss Donna Baird Becomes Bride of Garrett L. Hendrix

The sanctuary of the Concord Presbyterian Church was the setting for the Saturday afternoon wedding of Miss Donna Jean Baird and Garrett Leroy Hendrix.

The Rev. Emory Lowe performed the double ring ceremony before an altar setting of palms, ferns and lighted candelabra.

Miss Baird is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald C. Baird of RD 4, Salem. Mr. Hendrix is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Garrett Hendrix of Kent.

"At Dawning," "Always" and "Because" were sung by Mrs. James Barnes of Salem, accompanied by Miss Jodine Moore of RD 4, Salem.

Mr. Baird gave his daughter in marriage. The bride chose a ballerina-length gown of poudre blue lace and net over taffeta. The fitted bodice was complemented with a lace bolero jacket. Alternating ruffles of net and lace highlighted the full skirt.

Her fingertip veil featured an embroidered edging and was held in place by a pearl tiara. Stephanotis and ivy encircled the white orchid which topped her white ers were Richard L. Toot of Salem, cousin of the bride, and M. A. Butler of Beloit.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Baird chose a blue sheath with black accessories, while Mrs. Hendrix wore a lavender sheath with white accessories. Both wore white rose corsages.

One hundred and fifty guests from Detroit, Cleveland, Toledo, Kent, Ravenna, Akron and Salem attended the reception in the church parlor.

A yellow and blue color scheme was carried out. The attendants' bouquets were placed on either side of the three-tiered wedding cake which was topped with a small church and miniature bridal figurine.

Mrs. Levern Owen was in charge of the reception, and was assisted by Miss Dorothy England, Mrs. Wayne Hendrix, sister-in-law of the bridegroom, Mrs. Larry Wallace and Mrs. Earl Zimmerman, cousins of the bride, and Misses Judy Weikart and Jill Sanders. Miss Kathy Sisco was in charge of the guest book.

A graduate of Goshen Union High School, Mrs. Hendrix is employed by the Lyle Printing and Publishing Co. Her husband is employed by the Chrysler Corp. at Twinsburg.

Following a tri-state motor trip, the couple will reside in Kent. For traveling, the bride chose a blue-gray princess style dress with black accessories and the orchid from her bouquet.

Manners MAKE FRIENDS

If you are eating in a restaurant during a rush hour, demand as little service as possible. Changing your mind about what you want after the waiter has taken your order, or sending him to the kitchen to see if you can make substitutions in the menu take up more than your share of the time.

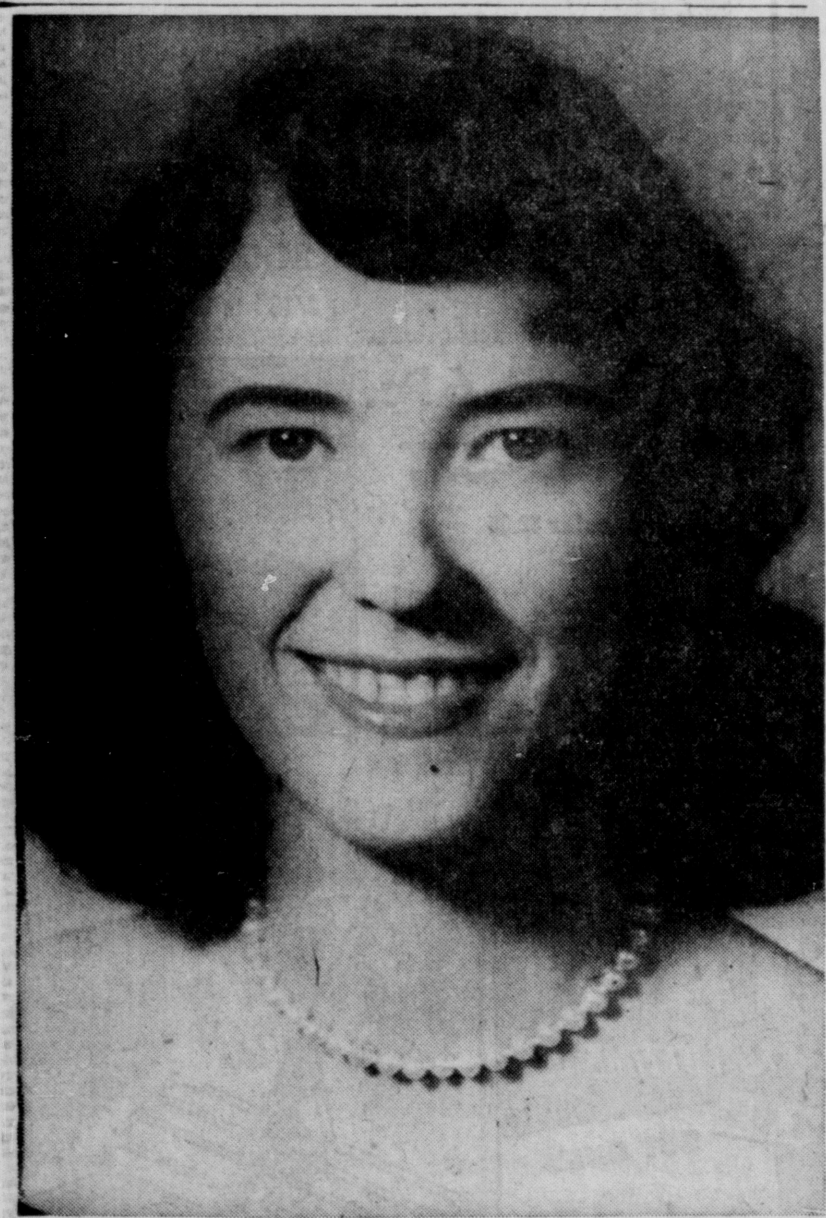

Everyone in a crowded restaurant gets better service when each individual is considerate.

Expenditures Up—Receipts Down for Fiscal '59

When fiscal 1958 ended on June 30, Uncle Sam, as usual, took a new look at his finances and what he saw made him blink. Whereas the budget estimate President Eisenhower made last January indicated a surplus of some 500 million dollars, the new estimate of income and outgo for fiscal 1959 indicates a whopping 12-billion-dollar deficit. The current estimate shows a total increase of more than 500 million dollars. Charts below give details of the new estimates for fiscal 1959.

RECEIPTS—1959

$ Billions—Fiscal Year	January Estimate	Current Estimate	Decrease
Individual Income Taxes	38.5	36.0	2.5
Corporation Income Taxes	20.4	16.7	3.7
Excise Taxes	9.3	8.4	.9
Customs and Other Receipts	6.2	5.9	.3
TOTAL	74.4	67.0	7.4

IN JANUARY, President Eisenhower estimated that the government would take in 74.4 billion dollars, mostly in taxes. The new estimate indicates the take will be only 67 billions, a drop of 7.4 billions.

EXPENDITURES—1959

$ Billions—Fiscal Year	January Estimate	Current Estimate	Increase
Agriculture	5.0	6.9	1.9
Housing	.5	1.5	1.0
Post Office	.1	.7	.6
Unemployment Programs	.4	.9	.5
Defense	40.3	40.8	.5
Other Programs—net	27.6	28.4	.8
TOTAL	73.9	79.2	5.3

WITH UNCLE SAM'S INCOME for fiscal 1959 lowered, his expenses are soaring. In January he thought fiscal 1959 would cost him 73.9 billion dollars. Instead it is now estimated that he'll spend 79.2 billions—an increase of 5.3 billions.

COLUMBIANA

Kelly Charges Politics In Route 62 Planning

COLOMBIANA — John F. Kelly of Lisbon, Democratic candidate for state representative, declared here Sunday evening that Governor William O'Neill and the State Highway Department are "playing expensive politics" with U.S. Route 62 between Alliance and Salem.

Addressing members of the Columbiana Democratic Club in Columbiana, Kelly said that all residents of Columbiana County should be alarmed over the fact that Salem and Columbiana county may lose U.S. Route 62 altogether because "the present Republican governor is playing politics with the Alliance Chamber of Commerce and other special interest groups in Alliance."

CONCEDING that he is no engineer, Kelly said he feels it to the best interests of the local citizens and all the taxpayers of Ohio that the present right-of-way purchase between Alliance and Westville be used in the program for Route 62. Kelly explained that during Governor Lausche's administration, the highway department purchased a four-lane right-of-way between Alliance and Westville. "This stretch is as straight as any road in Ohio," Kelly charged, and added that at the time the highway department laid a two-lane highway and graded the second half of the right-of-way to prepare it for transformation into a four-lane route.

Kelly declared that under the current administration, the plans call for junking the original plan and purchasing all new right-of-way. "This will waste millions of dollars in routing highway 62 north of Alliance," he said.

"IF THE PEOPLE of Columbiana County let money be wasted on this type of highway program, we will not get the roads we are entitled to from our tax dollars." The candidate called on Governor O'Neill to "quit playing politics with Ohio's highways and build roads to the best interest of Ohio's taxpayers." Kelly added: "If my opponent is as good a friend of the governor as he leads us to believe, then perhaps he can talk some common sense to him."

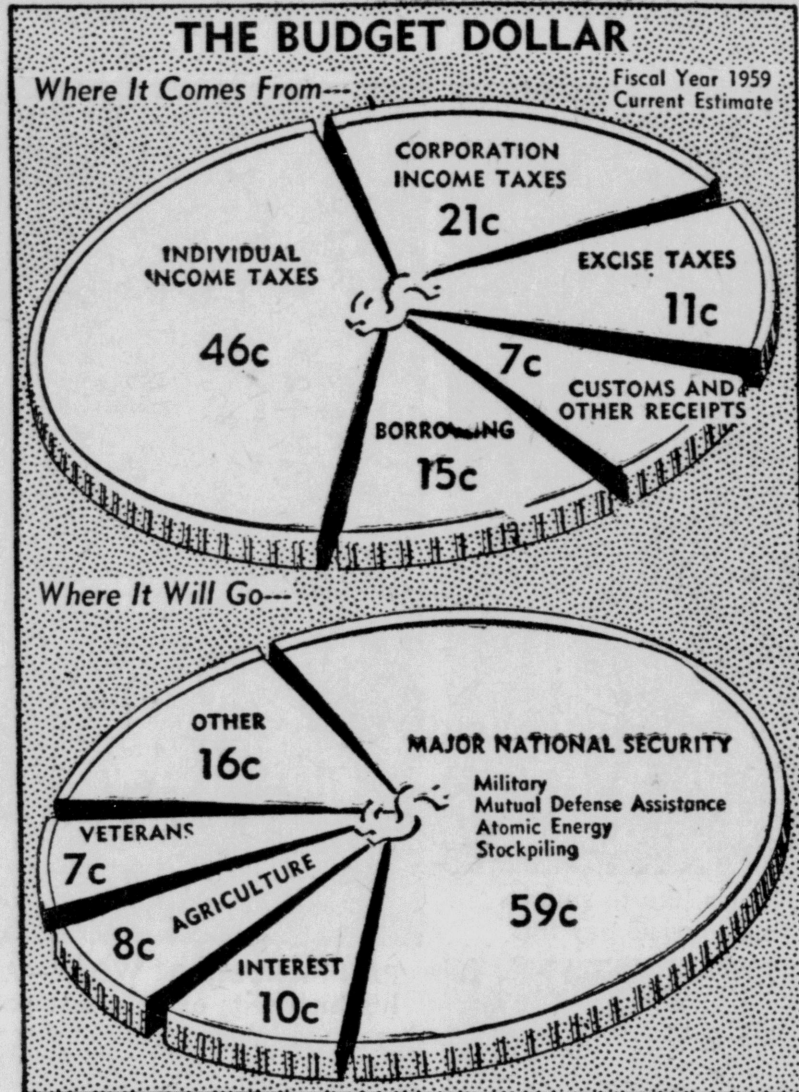

HE WARNED that if Salem and Columbiana County are to bring new industry into the county, U.S. Route 62 must be kept inside the county lines. He pledged, if elected, to work to keep Route 62 in the county and to exert every effort to secure more four-lane highways in the county. Following the address by Kelly, Columbiana County Democratic Chairman Don R. Gosney outlined prospects for the party in the county.

FAIRFIELD RURITAN CLUB members will be hosts to Rotarians and Kiwanians at 6:30 this evening at Heck's Restaurant.

The annual get-together, which will feature a surprise program of home talent, will begin with the customary chicken barbecue dinner.

Several new members of the Columbiana community have joined the Newcomers Club, which held its first meeting of the fall season last week.

Newcomers introduced at the session were Mrs. Donald Durr, Mrs. Arthur Rittenhouse, Mrs.

PIE CHARTS ABOVE show how the budget dollar is divided. In January, it was estimated that 92 cents of the income dollar would come from taxes. The current revised estimate indicates that taxes will represent only 78 cents. In contrast is the fact that the January expenditure estimate apportioned 64 cents of the budget dollar to major national security agencies but the new estimate allows them only 59 cents.

Daniel Malone, Mrs. Harry Potts, Mrs. Ernest Williams, Mrs. Thomas Nentwick, Mrs. Harry Hokanson, Mrs. Alton Dobson, Mrs. Nels Scheel, Mrs. James Rupert, Mrs. Mae Griffith and Miss Nancy Clark.

The club plans to organize a chorus. Interested members are to meet at 8:30 tonight at the home of Mrs. Lilian MacKinnon, 28 E. Duquesne St.

VILLAGE OF LIGHT

It once was called Village of the Blind. But the Israelis who live there, all of them blind, voted to change the name to Village of Light. They changed it because now there is light—the light of hope. The citizens all have their own houses and support themselves by making and selling furniture, handicrafts, rugs. They were trained through rehabilitation programs operated by one of America's religious faiths. It isn't only the blind who need rehabilitation help overseas. Many have been maimed during war years. They've been deprived of training and education. They need the help you can give when you support the religious OVERSEAS AID Program of your faith.

THE ALL WET GENERATION?—Parisian Existentialists prance through the surf in Sorrento, Italy, as the band plays—of all things—a little mambo music.

HITCHING ON POST—Kids in Naples like to snitch a ride on horse-drawn buggies that tourists pay for.

PAN HANDLER AT WORK—A Roman vendor waits hopefully for customers amid his hundreds of pots and pans. He set up his makeshift shop in a vacant lot.

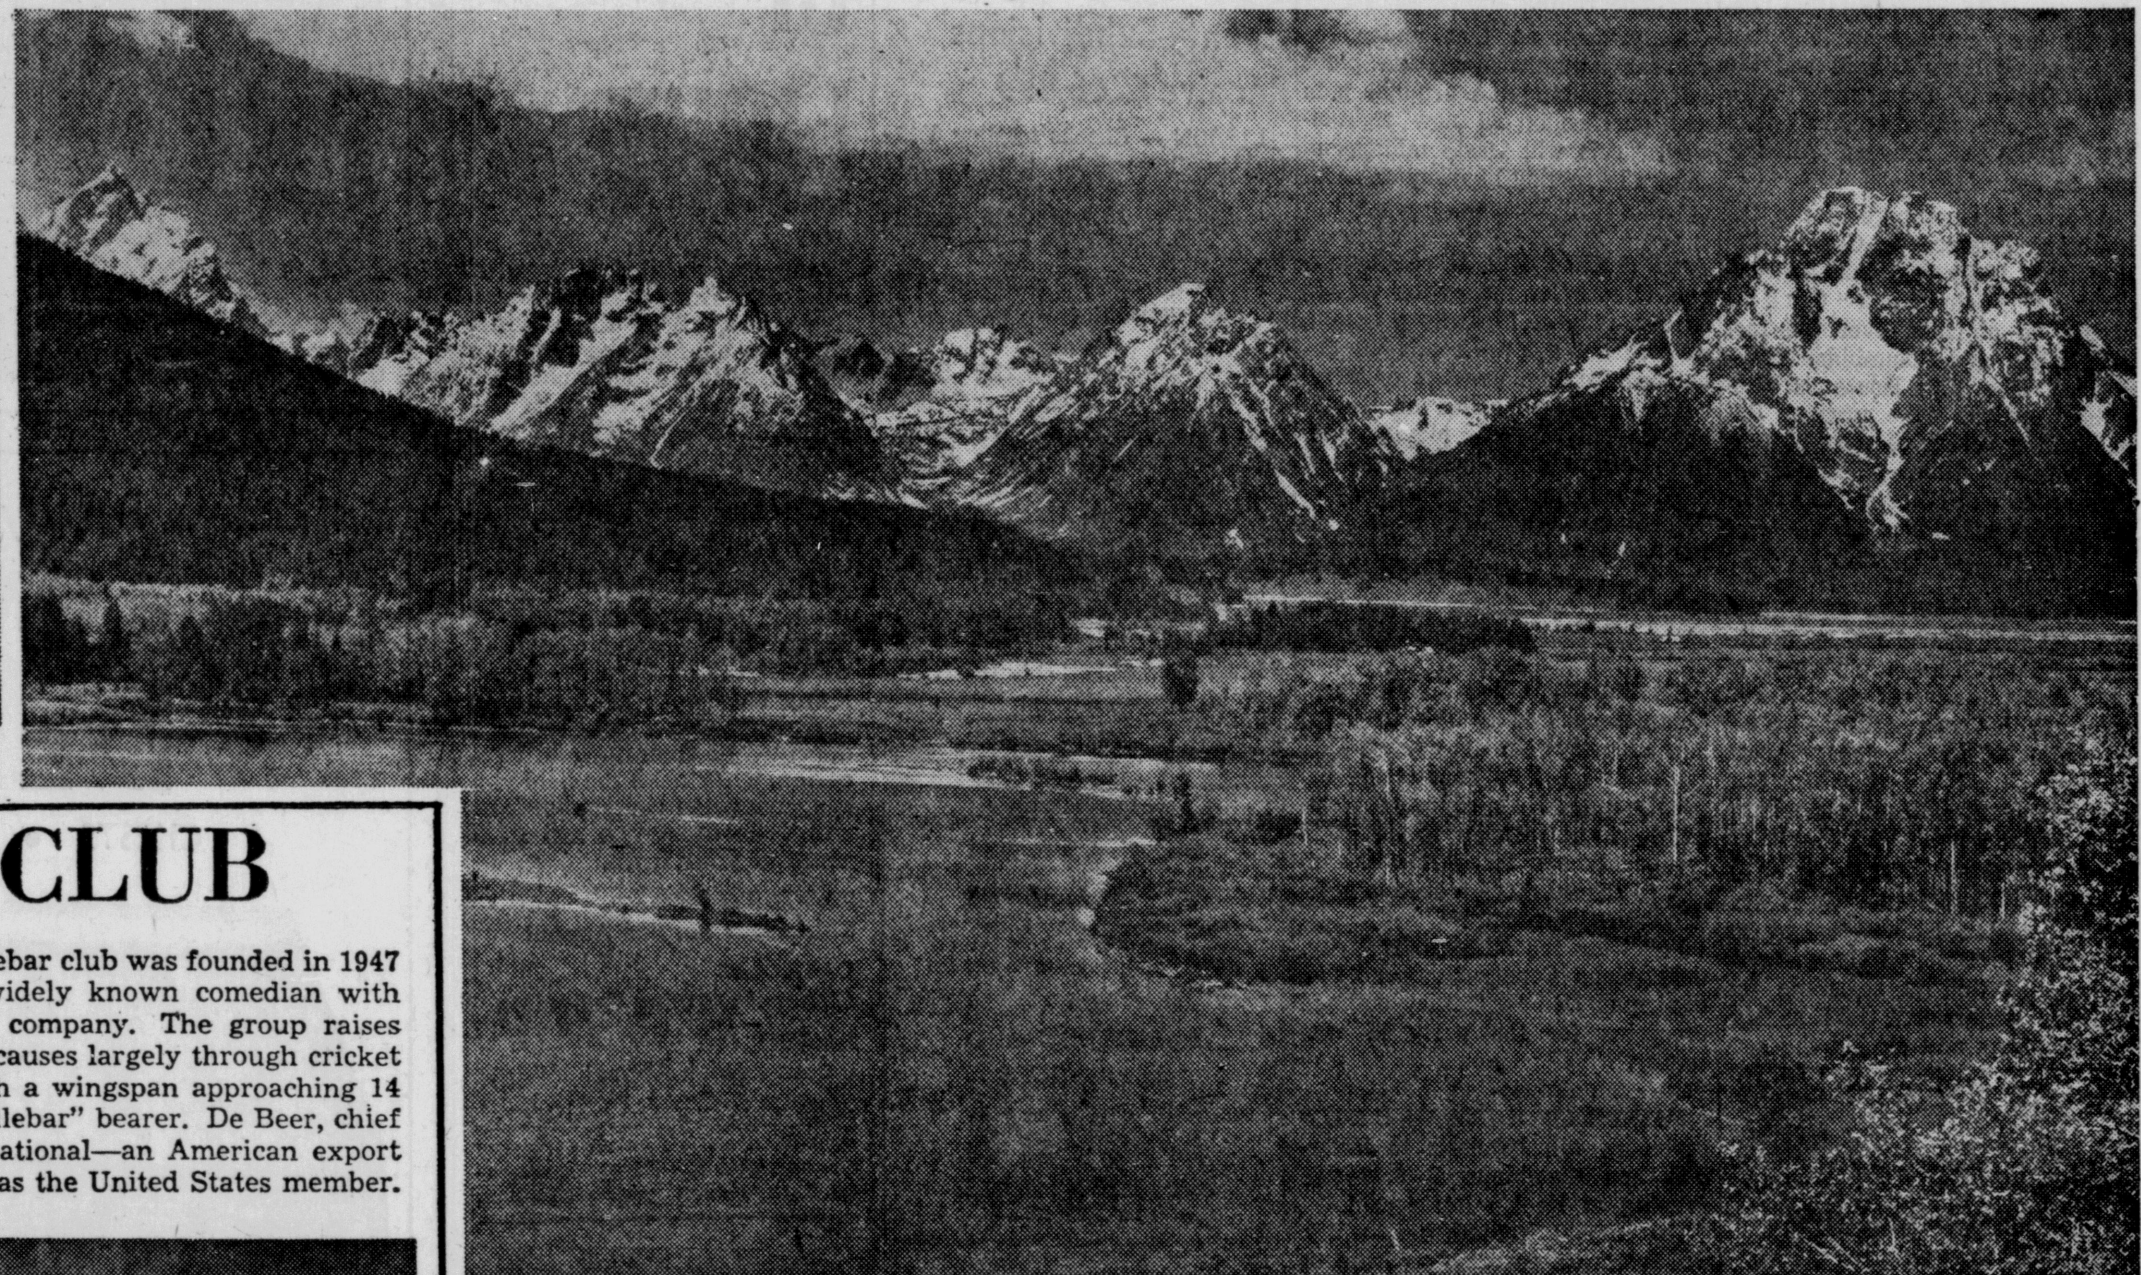

SHE MAKES QUITE A CATCH—Lovely Florence Cloud adds a sunny look to the Cypress Gardens, Fla., area as she finds a better use for a fishing net.

DOESN'T TICKLE NOW—A gardener turns barber to cut away the foliage from a fountain in Rome. It makes it easier to drink without getting tickled.

NO CAPRI PANTS—At least on the isle of Capri one would expect to find girls wearing the popular Capri pants, but short shorts seem to be the present rage.

STIFF UPPER LIP CLUB

FLIGHT LT. Baron Christian de Beer, late of the Royal Air Force, lowered his tankard of ale, fingered his mustache and said, "I fear I am the only American representative of my club." His club is the Handlebar club, whose 183 members range from Hong Kong to world headquarters in London to New York. The club brings together mustache wearers for "social intercourse, sport and conviviality" and to assist any worthy cause. The Handlebar club was founded in 1947 by Jimmy Edwards, a widely known comedian with the British Broadcasting company. The group raises contributions for worthy causes largely through cricket matches. Alan Gear, with a wingspan approaching 14 inches, is the "Prize Handlebar" bearer. De Beer, chief engineer of Rocke International—an American export firm—bravely carries on as the United States member.

Whether teacher (left), or musician (right), there's no denying the mustache adds a certain something.

A RETREAT FOR ROYALTY—This American-style ranch house in the mountains of Monaco is the home away from home of Prince Rainier and Princess Grace. She furnished the rooms according to her personal taste.

Deaths and Funerals

Joseph Tassone

LEETONIA — Joseph Tassone, 63, of 61 Front St. died of a heart ailment at 12:50 a.m. Sunday at Erie Veteran's Hospital in Cleveland, following a five-year illness.

Born in Province Reggis Calabria, Italy, June 1895, he was the son of Antonio and Bava Theresa Tassone.

A resident here 31 years, he was a World War I veteran, having served in the 325th Infantry, 82nd Division NA. He was a member of Joe Williams American Legion Post, Eagles Lodge and St. Patrick's Catholic Church.

Survivors include his mother; two sons, Lawrence and Anthony; a daughter, Philomena; and a brother, Basquel Tassone, all of Italy.

Services will be Wednesday at 9 a.m. at St. Patrick's Church, with the Rev. Warren Braun officiating. Burial will be in Mount Calvary Cemetery.

Friends may call at the Woods Funeral Home this evening and Tuesday afternoon and evening.

Walter F. Riles

LEETONIA — Walter F. Riles, 73, of 27 Main St., died at 1:30 p.m. Saturday at the Delp Nursing Home in Boardman following a 26-year illness.

Born in Homestead, Pa., March 15, 1885, he was the son of James T. and Margaret Carter Riles.

He was employed as manager of an A&P Store in Youngstown until his injury in 1932. He was a charter member of Council 1569, Knights of Columbus and a member of St. Patrick's Catholic Church.

Survivors include his wife, Agnes Ready Riles whom he married on Nov. 4, 1919; a son, Lawrence of Leetonia; two sisters, Mrs. Andrew Barry of Youngstown and Sister Mary Loretta of the Ursuline Convent in Youngstown; and two granddaughters.

Services will be Tuesday at 9 a.m. at St. Patrick's Church, with the Rev. Warren Braun officiating. Burial will be in Mount Calvary Cemetery.

Friends may call at the family residence any time today.

Mrs. Louis Tritch

Mrs. Julia Ann Tritch, 62, of 452 S. Broadway, died of complications Sunday at 12:30 a.m. at Salem City Hospital after an illness of two and a half years.

Born Feb. 10, 1896, at Cannonsburg, Pa., she was a daughter of Joseph and Marie Meyer Bruckner.

She was a member of St. Paul Catholic Church and the Ladies Catholic Benevolent Association.

She had lived in Salem 23 years and was formerly employed by the Salem China Co. Her first husband, George Reader, died in 1923.

On Nov. 3, 1926, she married Louis J. Tritch, who survives.

Besides her husband, she is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Eva Landwert, and a son, George Reader, both of Salem; six grandchildren; a brother, Joseph Bruckner of Washington, Pa.; and a sister, Mrs. Mike Mayer of Tulsa, Okla. One brother and one sister preceded her in death.

Funeral service will be Wednesday at 9:30 a.m. in St. Paul Church, with the Rev. Fr. J. Richard Gaffney officiating.

Interment will be in Grandview Cemetery.

Friends may call Tuesday from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m. at the Stark Memorial.

said the ministers could not countenance the use of Christian churches as private schools to evade desegregation.

Charlottesville, ordered by U. S. Dist. Judge John Paul to admit two Negroes to its only white school and 10 to one of its white elementary schools, tries Tuesday to get a stay of that ruling off of the U. S. 4th Circuit Court in Baltimore.

The feeling is that if Sobeloff turns down the request, as he did in the Warren County case, Lane High School and Venable Elementary School in Charlottesville will close.

Twice Put Off

The opening date for these two schools twice has been put off and now is set for Sept. 22. Other Charlottesville schools open today.

Norfolk's school board, under pressure of a federal court order to desegregate public schools, has announced the intention to enroll 17 Negroes in white schools. U. S. Dist. Judge Walter E. Hoffman hears arguments Wednesday night on a school board petition that he prevent enforcement of a state court injunction which restrains the school board from assigning any pupils.

If Negroes are enrolled in white Norfolk schools—even on paper—these schools would close, Norfolk schools open Sept. 22 after a two-week delay.

U. S. Dist. Judge Albert V. Bryn must rule on the request of 30 Negroes for admission to white Arlington schools. But that decision may not come this week.

During the weekend, the Almond administration launched a new defensive maneuver in the segregation battle. It asked the State Supreme Court for a ruling on the constitutionality of the school closing and fund cutoff laws, the heart of Virginia's massive resistance program.

The hope was that by establishing a test case in the state's highest court, federal courts would take a hands-off attitude.

But it is generally expected that Lebanon's President-elect Fuad Chehab will ask the American troops to leave soon after he takes office Sept. 24.

Gradually Returning

Conditions have been gradually returning to normal since Chehab's election. Rebel leaders announced that starting today stores in the business section of Beirut could stay open until 1 p. m. without danger of being bombed for violating a rebel strike order. The rebels called the strike May 10, but eased up a week ago by allowing stores to open up until 11 a. m.

The Navy announced Machinists Mate 3. C. Joseph A. Domotta of Philadelphia was slightly wounded Saturday night by a bullet while he was watching a movie aboard a destroyer 1,000 yards off Beirut.

Cmdr. Robert Pond of San Francisco said he believed a sniper fired the shot. It was the third such casualty among American forces here.

Thieves Enjoy Repast At Service Station Here

Intruders enjoyed a repast of candy bars and soda pop during their burglary of Paul's Pennzoil Station on Rt. 45, just south of the Salem city limits, early this morning, Sheriff Russell J. VanFossan reported.

The sheriff said the thieves gained entry by breaking a window in a rear door, reaching in and unlocking the door.

They stole $37.50 in small change and an additional $20 from a cigarette machine.

The service station has been burglarized a number of times in the past.

Vandalism at the G. and M. Mining Co. on Rt. 518 between West Point and Gavers, was reported to the sheriff this morning.

Someone broke windows in the mine office, in the trucks and in other machinery. Air gun pellets were found around the trucks, deputies said.

By Victor Riesel

Jim Hoffa wants to be president of the Teamsters' Union. He isn't. He knows it. Soon the federal courts will prove this. There now is really only one power in that behemoth outfit. That power is a man Hoffa has never seen or spoken to—Judge F. Dickinson Letts. The judge is expected to tell Hoffa to clean up or get out as provisional president.

To act swiftly before the Federal Court does, Hoffa and his brain-trusters have conjured up a "now you-see-it-n-o-w-you-don't" reform movement. Sort of a built-in, controllable "crusade."

The Teamsters national headquarters plans some slow motion suspension of officers exposed by the McClellan committee.

The officials will be given enough advance knowledge of the coming suspensions to allow them to find some friendly local judges to help protect them against that grim palace of Hoffa justice, the Tempos national office.

Then, when the suspension orders arrive, the local officialdom will be fully prepared.

THE LOCAL officers simply will wave local court orders at the "crusaders" from Washington way. These local court orders will enjoin the national office from suspending the boys and lifting their union's charters.

Hoffa's avant-garde will report back to the chief. He will launch long legal proceedings.

From the national Teamsters headquarters will come crackling statements that they tried but the courts intervened. This then is the pressure of reform. But no one actually will have been reformed or removed under this scheme.

Yet not even Hoffa's expensive legal and public relations talent believes that many days can slip by without some of the Teamster officers on Sen. McClellan's list being dropped.

So, in the dusky hours over the canyons of Manhattan we come to still another stratagem. Here, in secret, some weeks ago, one of Hoffa's international union representatives met most of the night with seven of the more notorious, but less influential, local Teamster officials exposed by the embattled Bob Kennedy.

Hoffa's aide said that the time had come for the seven local officials to resign. This would ease Jimmy's "embarrassment." The seven were well fixed. They had investments and businesses of their own.

Other jobs would be found for them, if necessary. But, the emissary said, in any event this is what "Jimmy" wants.

IN EFFECT, they were being told they are expendable since they are the ones most likely to succeed in breaking back into the headlines.

Furthermore, they were told that if they did resign, they'd be less likely to draw federal lightning.

There are others who are "expendable" right across the land. At about the same time the New York "meat" had strewn its final cigarette butt, similar "meets" were being held in other big cities.

Informed circles believe that one was held in Detroit and another in Chicago. Everywhere the point was made that Hoffa was under terrific strain. And no relief was around the corner of Washington's streets.

This is true. The McClellan committee has a schedule packed far more heavily than is realized. It plans to hold hearings right through September, November and December of '58 and January of '59.

COUNSELLOR KENNEDY will be digging into the Chicago Teamsters local led by Joey Gimlico, who once posted armed guards outside his union headquarters to keep out committee probes.

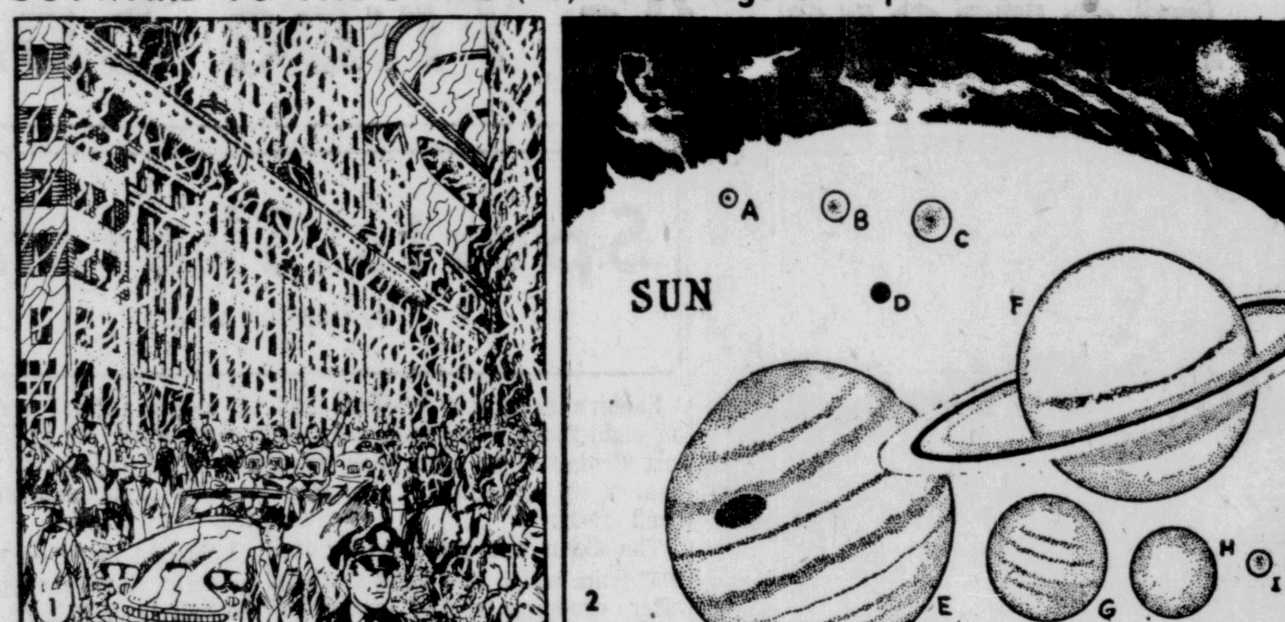

Kennedy is also planning another public look at the Mafia and the juke box mobs. Some of these will lead to Teamsters from time to time and state to state. Which means that Hoffa and his colleagues will be absorbed by events in the Senate hearing room until early next year.

Hoffa and his personal cabinet realize that they can't stand up against the government forever—even with the world's largest union in their hands for the moment.

The Teamsters' very size is a problem to Hoffa now. It is so big that his machine is having difficulty keeping it all in line.

Fact is that there is a formidable coalition forming around West

OUTWARD TO THE STARS (23)—New Age of Exploration

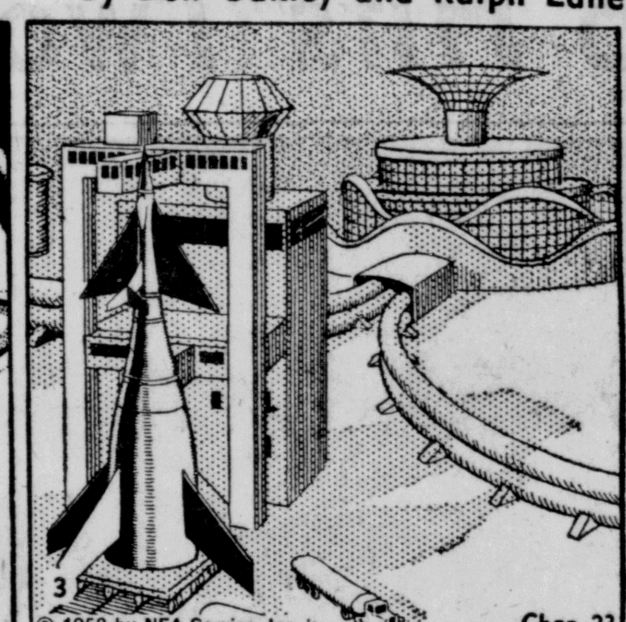

(1) After an absence of nearly two years, the Mars explorers return to a jubilant reception on Earth. Just as Columbus' voyage across an unknown sea fired the imagination of Europe and opened the great age of discovery on this world, so the successful bridging of the 35-million-mile (at minimum) gulf separating Earth and Mars will usher in the great age of exploration of other worlds.

(2) These worlds, the planets that make up our solar system, are depicted in roughly relative size and order from the Sun: (a) Mercury, (b) Venus, (c) Earth, (d) Mars, (e) Jupiter, (f) Saturn, (g) Uranus, (h) Neptune and (i) Pluto.

Generations will pass before man, driven by his insatiable curiosity, ventures as close to the Sun as little Mercury, or as far as the very limit of the solar system, to lonely, frozen Pluto.

By Don Oakley and Ralph Lane

Before that, other Mars expeditions will seek to set up permanent colonies on that planet.

After that, Venus, called Earth's sister planet, will beckon. Investigating Venus will be a totally new adventure, for ever-present clouds mask its surface from our view. But here, as with Mars, the quest for possible life will spur men on.

And just what are the rings of Saturn composed of? And what are its nine moons like? Or the 12 of Jupiter, the five of Uranus and the two of Neptune? And the uncounted asteroids lying in a belt between Mars and Jupiter?

And will men ever reach the stars, seen behind the flaming solar disk? Or other galaxies, those Coast Teamster chief Einar Mohr, an international union vice president. And even Hoffa can't fight on all fronts.

That's why he's staging the great "reform."

'Change of Life' Symptoms

Judging by an enormous number of letters I receive, it is exceedingly difficult for one going through the change of life to realize that the peculiar sensations they often experience may not have anything to do with the menopause at all.

For example, one correspondent wrote recently that since she has been in the menopause she has been getting "Sinking spells, dizziness, extreme nervousness, fatigue, fears, anxieties and numerous other symptoms."

She adds, however, the significant sentence, "I was always high strung and nervous previously, but I have gotten worse."

I should not want to say that none of these symptoms is remotely connected with the change of life, but it is certainly true that many women attribute every sensation, whether physically or emotionally produced, to the menopause.

"HOT FLASHES" is the unpleasant sensation which is complained of most frequently. These feelings, unlike other symptoms associated with the change of life, such as fatigue, headache, dizziness, nervousness and irritability, are usually considered the result of lessened secretion of female sex hormones (estrogens).

In many cases, significant symptoms, although present, are not severe enough to require treatment. When treatment is needed, there are several preparations available now which can be given ges. One, for example, wrote that she was moody, gets exceedingly despondent and cries easily.

This again is not unusual, but is perhaps more often an exaggeration of personality qualities already present than it is the result of lessened hormone production in the ovaries.

ANOTHER THING which many women are greatly concerned about at this time is the possibility of conception during the latter stages of the menopause.

I do not want to make too strong a statement on this since many pregnancies have occurred as late as 52 or even 55 years of age. But there is comparatively slight chance on conceiving past the age of 50 when a year or more has elapsed since the last period.

Probably the most important thing for women in the menopause to do—even including those who need hormone treatment—is to adjust their mental and emotional outlook.

Both mental and physical activity (reasonably suited to the age and physical condition of the woman) are helpful and take the mind off unnecessary worry over what is only a temporary situation.

Colavito Hits Two Homers As Tribe Splits With Orioles

Mino, Power Blast 4-Baggers Rocky Has 37 For '58 Campaign

CLEVELAND (AP) — For the first time since they won the world championship in 1948, the Cleveland Indians could end this baseball season with four regulars batting .300 and up.

The quartet includes: Vic Power, .315 and among the five leading contenders for the league batting championship; Minnie Mino, .305; Russ Nixon, .305; and Rocky Colavito — currently batting Washington's Roy Sievers for league runner-up in home runs and runs batted-in—302.

Every member of this foursome hit safely in both games the Tribe divided Sunday with Baltimore by winning 7-4 then losing 4-2.

In fact, the four got all the five hits Arnold Portocarrero (14-11) rattioned to the Indians in the nightcap. Mino's first-inning-infield single was the only hit Portocarrero yielded until the seventh when Minnie homered. It gave him a total of 22 home runs, his highest total during eight years in the American League.

Power blasted a third-inning homer in the opener, after an error and Bob Avila's single, to give winner Don Ferrarese (3-4) a 3-0 lead.

Placing his 36th home run after Mino's double off Connie Johnson in the fourth frame of the opener, and clouting his 37th as the first batter facing reliever Milt Pappas in the sixth, Colavito boosted his runs-batted-in total to 105.

Tonight the Indians conclude this year's business with the Orioles, whose second-game victory broke a seven-game losing string. Don Mossi (7-8) will hurl for the Tribe against Jack Harshman (11-13) in the only American League game scheduled. Cleveland goes into the finale with an 11-10 edge over the Orioles in games.

Salem Polo Team Wins 10-9 On Barr's Last Second Goal

A goal by Jimmy Barr in the last four seconds gave the Salem Polo team a 10-9 win over the Mahoning Valley team of Poland in a match held at the Ellsworth field Sunday.

Salem is now tied for second place with Mahoning Valley. Each has a 15-6 record.

Phil Thompson paced the winners with five goals. Barr had three while Lloyd Brunner and Jack Arnold had one each.

Reese Tallies Twice; Lisbon Beats Gophers

Denny Reese scored two touchdowns, one a fourth-quarter, 70-yard gallop with an intercepted pass, to lead the Lisbon Blue Devils to a 13-0 victory over Goshen before more than 2,000 fans at Sebring Saturday night. The senior quarterback scored on a 1-yard sneak in the first quarter to cap a long Lisbon drive.

The Gophers, led by senior quarterback Jeff Roberts, had little trouble running through the Blue Devil line but their attack bogged down whenever they approached the Lisbon goal. Bud Anderson, George Wallace and Don Shuman ripped off sizeable yardage for Goshen and Roberts proved to be a master of Coach Ralph Zurburg's split T attack.

Lisbon was impressive in the first half. They took the opening kickoff and moved to their own 32 where they were halted by the Goshen line, spearheaded by guards Norm Knoedler and Joe Duriga. Reese stepped back to punt and got off a 30-yarder which Gopher fullback, George Wallace couldn't hold. Paul Fry fell on the loose ball and the Blue Devils took over at midfield. From there it took just 11 plays until Reese plunged into the end zone for the first score. Leonard McLaughlin's extra point attempt was wide.

For the rest of the first half, neither team showed much of an attack but Reese's long punts kept the Gophers with their backs against the goal. Goshen put together three first downs in a row late in the second quarter but time ran out on them.

THE SECOND HALF was all Goshen. The Gophers took the kickoff and moved to the Lisbon 22 where George Wallace fumbled and Lisbon's Kenny Moore fell on the ball. The Blue Devils picked up two first downs and were again forced to punt. Reese's boot was partially blocked by Larry Jose and Direga recovered at mid field for the Gophers.

Goshen moved down to Lisbon's 10 but ran out of downs and the Blue Devils took over. Lisbon couldn't move the ball and Reese had to punt again. Goshen came right back moving to the Lisbon 14, where George Wallace fumbled and Reese's long punts kept the Gophers from scoring the rest of the quarter.

IN THE FINAL period it was all Goshen again. Led by Roberts, the Gophers moved towards the Blue Devil goal. On a third and four situation, one of Roberts' passes was picked off by Reese and the speedy back cut to the sidelines, shook off two Goshen tacklers, cut back to the center and ran 70 yards for a tally. McLaughlin's extra point try was good.

Johansson KO's Machen In Sweden

GOTEBERG, Sweden (AP) — Ingemar Johansson still had one large obstacle in his way today in his march toward a world heavyweight championship bout with Floyd Patterson.

That was a return match contract with Eddie Machen of Redding, Calif. Whether Machen would be willing to step aside if Johansson is matched with Patterson remains to be seen.

Johansson knocked Machen out in 2:16 of the first round of a scheduled 10-round Sunday and in the process shocked the boxing world.

"I have nothing against meeting Patterson whenever he decides," said Johansson. "And I would also like to give Machen a chance for a return bout in the U. S. if he wishes."

Johansson also is the European champion and added that he'd be perfectly willing to defend that title.

"But it is better to meet a top boxer and perhaps be defeated," he commented obviously referring to Patterson, "than take on one of Europe's heavyweights."

Yankees Cinch Flag, Dump A's 12-7 in 14 Innings; Ford Wins

It's official now. The Yankees can start thinking about the Milwaukee Braves and the World Series.

They finally nailed it down Sunday in Kansas City, winning the first game of a doubleheader 5-3. That did it mathematically.

Whitey Ford, who has been out of action with elbow trouble, had a five-inning tuneup in the second game but the Yankees had to come up with five runs in the 14th inning to win it 12-7, making Ralph Terry a double loser.

Sports Sketches

By GORDON ARNDT

Salem's scholastic gridgers had an eight-game win streak snapped last Friday night when they were beaten by Cleveland John Marshall 19-12.

The skoin was produced by the 1957 team which won eight straight after dropping a 13-7 encounter to Ravenna in the second contest of the season.

While on a city hall beat last Saturday morning, I talked to four different people who saw the game with Marshall. I asked each for their explanation of why Salem lost.

The first one said that Coach Earle Bruce tried to pattern the local's attack after that used by Woody Hayes at Ohio State.

He said Salem tried to use brute force rather than throwing in a little razzle-dazzle.

The second individual commented that fullback Lou Slaby was used too much and was even played to the hilt after re-injuring his bad ankle.

He added that Bruce seemed to be coaching his team as if they were a college club being scouted just before a big bowl game.

This third person "interviewed" said that Salem should have pulled out more stops and not utilized such a restricted type offense.

This was in keeping with the opinion extended by the fourth person who saw the game.

His synopsis was that Salem did not use enough of a diversified attack.

Every person who saw the game has their reasons why Salem lost. Who is to say who is right. Would be nice if there was some almighty gridiron power that could

Pirates Sweep 2 From Chicago

Friend Wins 21st; Tops In National

By The Associated Press

The Pirates simply refuse to walk the plank. Six down with only nine games to play, Pittsburgh will not concede to the Milwaukee Braves.

Bob Friend, top winner in the National League, posted his 21st victory for Pittsburgh Sunday in the second game against Chicago 6-2 after Ted Kluszewski's sacrifice fly had won the first game 5-4.

Milwaukee lost to Los Angeles 5-3 on a two-run homer by Don Demeter. As a result of the defeat and the Pirates' double success, the Braves' lead was cut to six games. They still need any combination of five victories or Pittsburgh defeats to nail down those series checks.

Joe Cunningham, filling in for Stan Musial at first base, hit two home runs against Philadelphia as St. Louis racked up a 6-3 decision from Sam Jones. The strikeout leader of the majors fanned six, boosting his season total to 212 while winning his 13th.

Willie Mays came to life in the second game at Cincinnati with a double and three singles in San Francisco's second-game 6-4 victory. Bob Purkey won his 17th for Cincinnati in the opener 4-3.

Class E, F All-Stars Win Hot Stove Games

The Class E All-Stars bombed Bliss CO 3372 and the Class F All-Stars shellacked Eljer Co. 12-6 in a pair of Hot Stove All-Star games played Sunday at Memorial Park.

The pair of tilts rang down the curtain on Salem's 1958 hot stove season.

Cincinnati Bentley Post Legion Baseball Champ

CINCINNATI (AP) — Cincinnati's Bentley Post baseball team came home Sunday with an unprecedented fifth national junior American Legion championship.

And Joe Hawk, bespectacled coach of the team for all of its 20-year history, may come into new honors.

Gabe Paul, Cincinnati Redleg general manager, wired Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick, seeking his aid in getting a special spot in the Hall of Fame for Hawk's work.

Bentley won the championship Saturday night with a 12-1 victory over Everett, Mass., in Colorado Springs. Bentley ended the season with a 53-5 record.

Havana — Wilfredo Hurst, 19½, Cuba, outpooled Henry Ferguson, 139½, Miami, 10.

FINISHES FOURTH MILWAUKEE (AP)—Driving a 1957 Ford, Mike Klapak of Warren, Ohio, finished fourth Sunday in the 250-mile stock car race of the United States Auto Club.

Havana — Wilfredo Hurst, 19½, Cuba, outpooled Henry Ferguson, 139½, Miami, 10.

Baltimore Surprise Picks Over Lions in Western Conference

By MURRAY OLDERMAN
NEA Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK—(NEA)—It's the intangible that makes the Detroit Lions, like when John Henry Johnson joined them a year ago to fill an urgent fullback need.

John Henry won't win any loving cup around the pro league, and the Lions have felt the brunt of his forearm shiver as much as anyone else. Besides, he was the only Negro on the club and had a tendency to gloom off in a corner.

That is until he shucked his grid togs one Sunday after a tough game, got all spiffed up and started to go through the exit door like he was out for a night on the town.

"Hold on there, John Henry," drawled Bobby Layne, the man from Texas. "You're not going out into that strange world without us?"

From that moment on, Johnson became one of the boys and the club went on to win the NFL title last year with him carrying the major portion of the ball-carrying and blocking load.

THE LIONS HAVE that feel for each other, and with their formidable talent, particularly in the most sparkling defensive secondary in the game and the Layne-Tobin Rotterback axis to spark the attack, it's tough to pick against them to repeat.

Yet the Baltimore Colts are this corner's choice to displace the Detroiters on top. The Colts, the nouveau riche of the pro game, also have a certain something which goes beyond mere physical talent.

Jim Mutscheller and Ray Berry show what we mean. Berry is frail and skinny, one leg longer than the other, and Mutscheller is as slow as an offensive end as you'll find. Yet by hanging around the field an extra hour after practice session, working with thrower John Unitas, getting all their moves synchronized, they became the best pass-receiving pair.

And on their defensive array, they've been getting rid of an old-timer like Don Joyce for years because he lacks mobility. Yet he keeps returning to play an end spot because he's been willing to starve himself into faints to shed cumbersome weight.

The Los Angeles Rams, on paper, look like no one should ever beat them, with as swift and elusive a raft of ball carriers as any team could want in Ron Waller, Jon Arnett and Tom Wilson. The popular conception around pro circles is that everything rides on the ability of Billy Wade to produce at quarterback, since Sid Gillman got rid of Norm Van Brocklin in a personality clash.

But we have no qualms about the ability of the Rams to produce points in abundance. The key lies in the defense, which has been the soft underbelly of the Los Angeles, particularly in the secondary. A spirited leader like veteran linebacker Les Richter could hold them together.

'Down On The Farm'

News of Meetings, Helpful Hints For Farmers.

Crop production prospects in Ohio of Sept. 1 show some improvement over a month earlier, according to the Agricultural Department.

The two major crops yet to be harvested—corn and soybeans—made some recovery from the adverse effects of the extremely wet June and July weather. Yield per acre prospects for corn moved up a bushel and for soybeans is now 1.5 bushels above that forecast a month ago.

Corn production 2 percent larger than the 1957 crop, but otherwise the smallest since 1951, is now indicated. Soybeans, with the aid of a record acreage, promise a production the highest of record.

For oats, yield per harvested acre is a record high. Prospects for production of all hay improved during August as weather was more favorable for harvest, especially during the last half of the month. Wheat production, the latest estimate for which is as of Aug. 1 is 11 percent smaller than average.

The Sept. 1 all crop production prospects point to an 9 percent larger output than in 1957 but 8 percent smaller than the total in 1955 which was the highest total production of record. Prospects improved about 2 percent during August. Soil moisture supplies continued generally adequate throughout the month, but below average temperatures during most of the last half of the month slowed plant growth.

CORN PROSPECTS showed some improvement during August but continue to show considerable variation over the state and even within the same local area. These variations appear to be determined largely by whether or not the soil could handle excess water. Rainfall during August generally supplied adequate moisture for the corn crop.

This year's crop was planted earlier than either the 1956 or the 1957 crop but stage of development now averages about the same as for the last two years.

The relatively cool summer with excessive moisture supplies has lengthened the usual period from planting to maturity. Sept. 1 prospects are for a crop of 184 million bushels, 3.7 million bushels more than forecast a month ago but 10 million less than average reduction.

SOYBEANS appear to have been less adversely affected by the excessive rainfall than other major crops. With generally favorable weather during August, production prospects improved.

An indicated crop of 35.9 million bushels is now 3.3 million bushels larger than the previous record crop harvested in 1957. Progress of the soybean crop to date is about a week later than in 1957. It now appears likely that a relatively small acreage of soybeans will be harvested for beans by October 1, whereas usually about one fifth of the acreage is harvested by that date.

THE MONTH OF AUGUST was considerably better for making hay than either of the two preceding months. Many farmers were able to complete cuttings of first crop hay and to make the second cutting of alfalfa hay and start harvesting of the third cutting.

Quality of first cuttings completed in August was lowered by the delay in harvest but much of the alfalfa hay harvested during the month was of good quality. Hay production in 1958 is now expected to total 3,555,000 tons, 4 percent less than in 1957. Some cuttings of stubble clover are being made to augment the smaller than usual quantities of hay moved into storage during June and July.

Continued good to excellent pasture feed conditions during the past month resulted in less than the usual amounts of hay fed during August. The Sept. 1 pasture feed condition reported at 97 percent of normal is the highest of record for the date.

crops was slowed by wet weather during July and much of August and some acreage mainly in Northeast Ohio was still to be harvested on Sept. 1. The proportion of these two crops that was harvested during the month of August was much larger than usual.

Harvest returns on oath indicate a record yield of 52 bushels per acre 1 bushel above the previous record. Estimated oats production of 56 million bushels is one third larger than last year and one fourth larger than average.

Potato production prospects are unchanged from a month earlier. Late summer potato production of 990,000 hundredweight is 4 percent smaller than the 1957 crop and 17 percent below average. Fall potato production of 2,080,000 hundredweight exceeds the 1957 crop by 16 percent but is 10 percent below average.

SWIMS FOR HELP

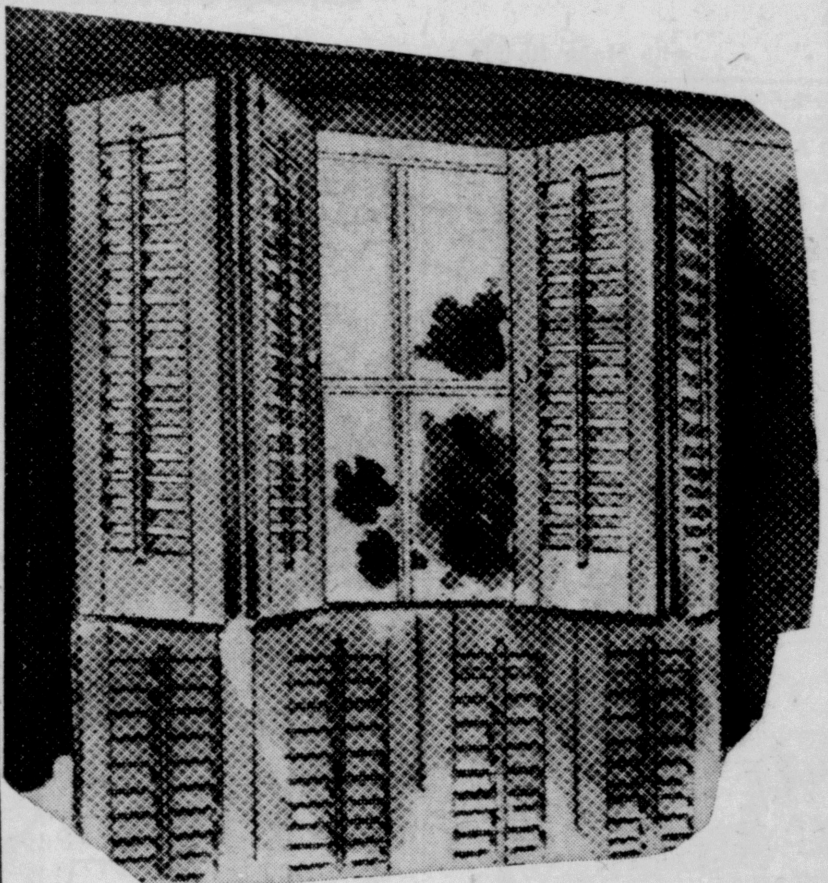

LORAIN, Ohio (AP)—Ronald L. McFadden, 24, swam a quarter-mile in Lake Erie Sunday to summon help after a boat overturned. The Coast Guard then hauled in Wilbur C. Allison, 52, father-in-law of McFadden, and Thomas, 59. Their 12-foot outboard boat capsized north of the Lorain lighthouse during a fishing trip.

WHY MIDDLE EAST IS VITAL — The United States is the biggest producer of oil but has dwindling reserves. At the present rate of use, experts predict there is only enough to supply us for the next 11 years. Charts above pinpoint the situation and show North America with great refinery capacity, world's leading demand and production, but far behind the Middle East in oil underground. Sixty per cent of American companies' reserves are in the Middle East. Data are from an independent survey by Nationwide Insurance company. President Murray D. Lincoln of the company, interprets the findings as a long-range threat of a general war for survival. His solution would be to form a cooperative along the lines suggested previously by Sir Anthony Nutting, former British minister of foreign affairs, so that the Middle Eastern people could share in the benefits of their natural resource.
